

Fighting All Over China, Say Travelers

By FORREST EDWARDS
HONG KONG (AP) — Savage fighting was reported today in Wuhan, central China's industrial complex where the forces of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung recently claimed victory in the nation's power struggle.

Other reports told of people fleeing cities of Szechwan Province in western China to avoid battles between Mao's supporters and foes. Travelers from Canton said a blood bath was expected in that southern metropolis.

It was impossible to evaluate all these reports, but they indicated that the struggle between Mao and supporters of his chief opponent, President Liu Shao-chi, may be rising in violence.

The report of renewed fighting in Wuhan, the Yangtze River complex of Hankow, Han-yang and Wuchang in Hupeh Province, came from the Maoist provincial radio itself.

While the broadcast gave no details of the fighting, it demanded that Maoist leaders take effective action to halt the struggle. Peking claimed Aug. 32 that leaders loyal to Mao had been put in power in Wuhan.

Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources in Formosa said land, river and air transportation in Szechwan Province had been paralyzed by the fighting between Mao's backers and foes.

The sources said increasing numbers of people were fleeing from Chungking, China's wartime capital; Chentu, Szechwan's provincial capital; and other cities to escape the fighting. Like citizens in Canton, they were reported returning to their villages in the countryside. Previous reports had said two high Maoist officials narrowly escaped death by sniper fire in Chengtu Aug. 21. Nationalist intelligence sources said they were Liu Chieh-ting, deputy commander of the Chengtu military district, and Chang Hsi-ting, a senior official of the Ipian administrative district up the Yangtze from Chungking.

Travelers from Canton said anti-Maoists there were openly boasting that they "would bathe in the blood of Red Guards," the teen-agers Mao entrusted with spearheading his struggle against Liu's backers.

The various travelers had conflicting stories about the role of the Red army in Canton. One group said the army had distributed thousands of rifles to city residents to use against "anti-Mao bandits."

Other travelers said the army in Canton was backing the anti-Maoists while the navy and air force units remained loyal to Mao.

Must Keep Promises, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told his colleagues they have $7 billion worth of promises to keep to America's violence-troubled city dwellers, to President Johnson and to themselves.

On Wednesday's eve of a congressional holiday, Mansfield put that price tag on Johnson's program for the cities, a package he said should be handled with a sense of urgency.

Mansfield did not mention an additional $2.8 billion in city aid proposals added to an antipover-law bill by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare committee over administrative objections.

Wants Jobs Open to All on Equal Basis

By STEPHEN M. AUG
WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, a young Negro who has been victimized by job discrimination in his own life, hopes to eliminate one of the more difficult kinds of discrimination in hiring: the subtle kind.

Clifford L. Alexander Jr., 33, born and reared in New York City's Harlem, said in his first interview as chairman that the commission is faced with "eliminating the complacency over hiring this or that Negro or Mexican-American and then forgetting about it."

He said employment discrimination is "one of the more urgent concerns of our time." He urged employers to look further than their friends, families and old school pals to find qualified personnel and to learn to send recruiters to the many small Negro colleges, not just big ones like Howard University in Washington.

Alexander listed three major areas of work for the commission:

— Using available information supplied by the employers to show employers discriminatory employment patterns of which they may not be aware. Virtually every large employer in the nation was required to file forms several months ago and Alexander said "we know now exactly in number their employment pattern."

— Intensified use of the complaint process, which currently has a backlog of about 1,800 cases charging illegal employment discrimination. He urged also more lawsuits to force balking employers to abandon traditional discrimination.

— Making more use of its technical assistance program to help employers start training programs for the chronically unemployed.

Against Move to Change Vote on Judges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas State AFL-CIO is strongly opposed to any move that would not allow the state's judges to be elected it was disclosed Wednesday.

The organization said in a letter to George E. Campbell, the executive secretary of the state Constitutional Revision Study Commission, that the adoption of a system of appointing judges would "take away the right of the citizens freely to elect their judges."

The letter was signed by state AFL-CIO president J. Bill Becker.

Many persons have appeared before the commission's Judiciary Committee and testified in favor of a constitutional provision that would abolish the election of judges.

The letter said it would be a "tragedy if a modern constitutional revision would turn the clock back at the request of the opponents of freedom."

"We do not believe that the people are too dumb to elect good judges any more than we fled in favor of a constitutional believe that the people of Arkansas are not qualified to run any part of our democratic government," the letter said.

Rights Group Seeking a Third Party

CHICAGO (AP) — A five-day convention of civil rights and peace advocates started today with some delegates considering formation of a third political party to try to defeat President Johnson in 1968.

Leaders of the National Conference of New Politics NCNP said the convention would consist of "open and democratic" discussion of the problems of civil rights, the cold war and local political problems.

Some of the nation's leading civil rights and antiwar advocates are scheduled to attend.

They include Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Dr. Benjamin Spock, noted baby doctor and critic of the war in Vietnam; Floyd McKissic, chairman of the Congress on Racial Equality CORE; Rep. Julian Bond of Georgia and comedian Dick Gregory.

BRIDGE REPAIR in North Vietnam goes on continually to keep supplies flowing to Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in South Vietnam, according to this photo and caption material from a Japanese news service. This unidentified bridge has been attacked and damaged numerous times by American planes, but never completely destroyed, the North Vietnamese claimed.

Brothers Charged With Car Theft

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James Clay, 20, and Leon Junior Clay, 25, two brothers from Ellicott City, Md., have been charged with burglary and grand larceny and car theft in two warrants issued by the office of Pros. Atty. Richard B. Adkisson.

Adkisson said Wednesday the two warrants were issued June 26.

Police at Ellicott City arrested the pair in June on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Adkisson was notified that the serial numbers of three pistols the brothers had in their possession matched the number of three pistols stolen in Little Rock June 8. Officers said the pistols and some rings, which were also stolen in Little Rock, were found in a car the brothers had in their possession.

The car the brothers were accused of stealing was registered to James Ricks, 27, of North Little Rock. Julius Ricks, brother of James Ricks, identified a body found near Newport Sunday as that of his brother. Jackson County authorities removed a bullet from the skull of the body.

No Hunting at Prison Farm

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Assistant Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton said Wednesday that dove hunting on a prison farm is not in keeping with the primary function of a prison, and announced that the practice would no longer be permitted at Tucker Prison Farm.

Murton said hunting had been allowed in the past at the farm. He said inmates will be working in the area during the dove season and that livestock roamed free on prison property.

WR, Gathings Will Speak

RECTOR, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., are scheduled to speak at the annual Labor Day picnic here Monday.

More than 20,000 persons attended the event last year.

Nebraska Firm Low on Lock and Dam Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Army Engineers said Wednesday that the construction of the lock for the Dardanelle Lock and Dam on the Arkansas River apparently will be done by Peter Kiewit Sons Co. of Omaha, Neb.

The Nebraska firm submitted the apparent low bid of $9,747,995 on the job the Army Engineers announced. Six other firms bid on the job. It was estimated that the job would cost $9,885,723.

Construction of the lock is expected to get underway next month and be completed in about 20 months. The Dardanelle Lock and Dam will be completed with the construction of the lock.

The structure will be the last of the navigation locks to be placed under construction on the Arkansas River navigation project in Arkansas. More than $66 million has already been spent on the Dardanelle Lock and Dam and the total is expected to reach $80 million.

When the Dardanelle Lock and Dam is completed in late 1969 navigation of the Arkansas River from Little Rock to Fort Smith is expected to get underway.

Weather for Holiday May Be Ideal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fair skies and cooler temperatures are forecast for the weekend in Arkansas, making it perfect for the thousands who plan to turn out for the opening night of high school football in the state.

Scattered showers were reported early today in Northwest Arkansas, but began dissipating before noon, and showers in South Arkansas were expected to end late today.

Most showers Wednesday were light with Georgetown in White County reporting the heaviest amount, 1.20 inches.

High temperatures Wednesday were in the 80s and 90s. Overnight lows were generally in the 60s but ranged to 72 at Texarkana and El Dorado.

Bakers Pick Representatives

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Baker Tri-state Local 363 of the American Bakery and Confectionary International Union of the AFL-CIO will represent the employees of the Ideal Baking Co.

The firm's 15 eligible bakers voted 10-5 here Wednesday for union representation. The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Bid invitations on the contract to comply with the law.

MRS. GEORGE H. WRIGHT JR.

The soft glow of candlelight formed the setting Monday evening, August 28 for the wedding of Miss Barbara Jan Gaines and George H. Wright, Jr. The Reverend Perry Purdie of Springhill, La., cousin of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony in the sanctuary of the Unity Baptist Church of Hope.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Charles Gaines, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Wright, Sr., all of Hope.

The couple exchanged marriage vows before an altar decorated with southern smilax with long, burning tapers flanked with floor baskets of white glads, stocks, and daisies. Smilax and long white tapers decorated the windows of the church, and candelabra with satin streamers and smilax marked the pews.

Mike Gaines, brother of the bride, and Randy Wright, brother of the groom, lighted the candles as the ceremony began. Luther Hollamon, organist, presented a selection of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Gayle Williams, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest" early in the service and "The Wedding Prayer" at its conclusion as the couple knelt on a prie-dieu.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of traditional white peau de sole fashioned with a sabrina neckline and long sleeves that ended in lily points over the hands. The Empire bodice carried an A-line skirt trimmed with a re-embroidered lace motif in a grape pattern with pearl trim. Her chapel train was a removable mantle with scalloped of re-embroidered Alecon lace.

Her headpiece, an original design, was a white peau de sole rose trimmed with a cascade of white bridal roses with satin streamers centered with a white orchid. The bride wore the traditional "something old, new, borrowed, and blue with a sixpence in her shoe." Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Bob Arnold of Arkadelphia, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Betty Sue Gaines, also a sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. Jack Caldwell, Mrs. Kenneth Padden, Miss Lynda O'Steen, Miss Carla Purdie, cousin of the bride, all of Hope, and Miss Barbara Glover of Arkadelphia, sorority sister of the bride. The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of mint Shan Charm. From the squared lace neckline swept a flying panel trimmed with lace beading. Their headpieces were matching pill boxes. The flower girl, Miss Kim Hairr, wore a floor-length gown identical to the bridesmaids' dresses.

Dr. George H. Wright, Sr., father of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were: Larry Don Wright, brother of the groom, Jack Caldwell, Richard McDowell, Ricky Butler, David Porterfield, all of Hope, and Bob Arnold of Arkadelphia, brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers were: Danny Keeley of Blytheville and Mike Gibson of Jackson. Master Ross Batson of Arkadelphia was ring bearer, and Master Mark Batson, also of Arkadelphia, distributed rice bags to the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gaines chose a light blue dress of silk and lace with matching accessories. She wore a white cymbidium orchid at her shoulder. The groom's mother, Mrs. Wright, wore a coral crepe dress with champagne beige accessories, and she wore a beige cymbidium orchid.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Gaines entertained with a reception in their home. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Forrest Hairr. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth covered with net and nosegays of yellow roses. It held an arrangement of white stocks, pom poms, yellow roses and candy tuff in a silver spargne flanked by silver candelabra holding burning white tapers.

Sorority sisters of the bride who served at the reception were Mrs. Alvin Dwiggin, Mrs. Roy Leatherberry, Miss Marilyn Green, all of Arkadelphia and Miss Janey Brookings of Crossett. Other members of the house party were Miss Amelia Gaines, cousin of the bride, and Miss Darla James, Mrs. Mary McRae Davis was in charge of the bride's book.

For travel the bride chose a green coat suit with matching accessories. Her orchid corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Jonesboro where the groom is attending Arkansas State University.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A one time bridge partner, has become Lynda Bird Johnson's most frequent social companion, reports the Washington Post.

And the newspaper noted that actor George Hamilton, once Lynda's frequent companion, has seen little of her this summer.

The post said Marine Capt. Charles Robb of Menasha, Wis., a White House aide, has been dating the President's daughter several times a week.

A former White House aide said Robb first met Miss Johnson when he was invited to play bridge at the White House last year "and it's hard to say when it stopped being just bridge and became dating," the newspaper said.

"I'd really prefer not to say what the status of our relationship is," Robb told the Post Wednesday. "I want to stay out of the commenting business."

Robb expects to be assigned to Vietnam early next year. His mother told the Post, in a telephone interview from Milwaukee, that "Chuck not only expects to go, but I think he wants to go, very much."

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Gaines entertained with a reception in their home. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Forrest Hairr. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth covered with net and nosegays of yellow roses. It held an arrangement of white stocks, pom poms, yellow roses and candy tuff in a silver spargne flanked by silver candelabra holding burning white tapers.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — An interlocutory divorce has been awarded Patricia Sue Collins, wife of television actor Gary Collins who appears in "Iron Horse."

Santa Monica Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand awarded Mrs. Collins $1,000 monthly in alimony and child support for four years in the action Wednesday.

She was also given custody of their two children, Guy Williams, 2, and Melissa Lee, 1.

Group Would Replace the Quorum Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Constitutional Revision Study Commission, after reviewing a report by its Local Government Committee, voted Wednesday to recommend that the quorum court be replaced by a county legislative body.

The commission recommended that the county judge serve as an administrator of the body.

The commission did not decide on how many persons would serve on the legislative body but opinions ranged from three to 10. The commission seemed to be in favor of making the county judge more of an executive by allowing him to handle administrative matters such as hiring and firing. The legislative body would have more power than the present quorum court under the commission's recommendation. The commission instructed the committee to be more specific in its future report regarding a controversial home rule provision for municipalities and failed to act on the provision.

The commission decided to give the state legislators the authority to set up salaries for members of the county legislative body. The group would have the power to set the salaries of all county officials except members of the body.

Jack Could Be Richest Golfer Also

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is generally conceded to be the greatest golfer in the world, he is on the road to being the richest and most successful, yet there is one battle he hadn't won.
That's the battle with Arnie's Army.
Big Jack, after pocketing the $50,000 first prize Wednesday in the $250,000 Westchester Classic, insisted that he didn't let the army bug him too much, but he left his listeners wondering.
"Aw, I'm getting used to it. It's really quite comical," Nicklaus said. "I'm out there to play golf. I try to concentrate and ignore them."
The army, with banners and lungs at top mast, was out in force at the Westchester Country Club for the final round of the world's richest event which presented Nicklaus, Palmer and Dan Sikes in the final and re-audited threesome.
Nicklaus stood off a late rush by Sikes, 36-year-old Jacksonville, Fla., law graduate and Player committee chairman, to win his fourth tournament of the year by a stroke.
Jack had a 72-hole score of 272, 16 under par, while Sikes who twice pulled out and started home but came back when rain washed out the rounds Saturday and Sunday, was runner-up at 273.

Two Arkansans in the Money

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — R.H. Sikes a professional golfer from Springdale, Ark., shot a final round of 66 Wednesday and picked up $3,375 in the Westchester Golf Classic.
Sikes finished with a 72-hole score of 282, six-under-par. His 66 equalled the best final round by any player in the tournament. Charles Coody also shot 66.
Richard Crawford of El Dorado shot a final round of 74 and picked up a check for $850. He had round of 73-71-69-74 for 287. Sikes had 72-68-76-66. Miller Barber of Texarkana who was one-under-par for 54 holes, withdrew Wednesday.

Odds Favor American Yacht Again

By DON GUY
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup may be the Holy Grail of international yachting, but if the cup races were held in Yankee Stadium or Fenway Park the fans probably would storm the box office for a refund.
As a sporting event, the odds, based on past history, are more than 10 to 1 against a challenger on a single race and 20 to 1 against winning the cup.
The United States has won all but six of the 64 races held in 116 years.
With due respect to doughty Dame Pattie of Australia and her gallant crew, it looks like "The Dame" may well end up another Australian sheep for slaughter.

Bosox Nip Yanks in 11th Inning

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Robinson Rock—the swinging melody that guided Baltimore to the world championship last year—is in on the American League pennant chase again even though the Orioles are nowhere near the top this season.
Frank and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's partners in punch, left Minnesota reeling with two straight losses that dropped the second-place Twins 1½ games off Boston's league-leading pace.
Brooks lined a three-run double that keyed the Orioles' 4-3 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night and Frank hammered a two-run 10th-inning homer giving Baltimore a 4-2 decision against Dean Chance Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the pennant race, Boston got an 11th-inning home run from Carl Yastrzemski and nipped New York 2-1. It was the Red Sox' 14th victory in the last 18 games. Tommie Agee lined three key hits as Chicago topped Washington 5-1, and California pushed across two ninth-inning runs that joined third-place Detroit, 3-2.
In other American League action, Kansas City shaded Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings.
In the National League, first place St. Louis shut out New York 2-0. Los Angeles pounded San Francisco 5-3. Chicago dropped Houston 4-1. Pittsburgh outslugged Atlanta 11-9 and Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 2-1.
Chance, 17-10, was making his first start since pitching a no-hitter against Cleveland last week and he was trailing 2-1 until the eighth inning when Bob Allison smashed a pinch home run.

That sent the game into extra innings but not for long. Boog Powell singled with one out in the 10th and then, after Paul Blair was retired, Frank Robinson connected.
It was Robinson's 26th homer of the year and made a winner out of Eddie Watt, who struck out four in two innings of relief.

Yastrzemski, who had been hitless in 18 at bats in the Yankees series, redeemed himself with his 35th home run and beat Al Downing.
Downing struck out 12 batters but Yastrzemski, who entered the game in the eighth inning, snapped the tie in the 10th. The homer gave him the major league lead by one over Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew.

Chicago, which opens a crucial four-game series in Boston tonight, salvaged the final game of a three-game set in Washington thanks mainly to Agee and Don Buford.
Agee singled and came around on Buford's hit and two infield outs in the first inning, singled again and scored on Buford's triple in the third and then doubled a run home in the seventh.

Fred Klages and Bob Locker combined in the eight-inning with Klages, who worked the first six innings, getting credit for the victory.
Detroit's Earl Wilson, gunning for his 19th victory, was leading 2-1 and cruising along on a three-hitter against the Angels when he walked Jimmie Hall on four pitches with one out in the ninth.

Bubba Morton, a former Tiger, followed with a double, scoring Hall with the tying run. When Al Kaline fumbled the ball, Morton raced to third. Then Bill Skowron bounded to shortstop Ray Tyler and Morton beat the throw to the plate to score the winning run.
The defeat kept the Tigers in third place, one percentage point back of Minnesota and 1½ games behind Boston.

Danny Carter's fifth hit of the night drove in a winning run in the 12th inning against Cleveland. Tony Horton knocked in three runs for the Indians.

Mrs. King Favorite at Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King, the best women's tennis player in the world, is a strong favorite to break a six-year drought and bring the United States national championship back to this country in the tournament that began today.
The best available of American men are just as strongly favored to extend the long dry spell in which they haven't won since Tony Trabert turned the trick in 1955.

Cepeda Leads Cardinals to Victory

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
They're touting Orlando Cepeda for the National League's Most Valuable Player award, but Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente isn't making it easy for the St. Louis Cards' star to win his first National League batting championship.
Clemente is a three-time winner of the batting crown. Cepeda never has won it, but he's driving toward the top just as the Cards are moving swiftly toward the pennant.
Cepeda collected three hits as St. Louis downed the New York Mets 2-0 Wednesday night. Clemente had two safeties, including a two-run double, that helped Pittsburgh down Atlanta 11-9. In other games, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 2-1, Los Angeles trounced San Francisco 9-3 and Chicago defeated Houston 4-1.

In the American League, Boston edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings, Baltimore beat Minnesota 4-2 in 10 innings. Kansas City tripped Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings. Chicago defeated Washington 5-1 and California edged Detroit 3-2.

Clemente's hits enabled him to increase his league-leading batting average one point to .348. Cepeda's three safeties, though, lifted his mark three points to a runner-up .343.
Tim McCarver also starred for St. Louis. He drove in both runs with his 12th homer and a sacrifice fly. Larry Jaster and Ron Willis combined to limit the Mets to four hits.

Willis relieved Jaster after Bob Johnson walked with one out in the ninth inning and retired the next two batters. Rookie Danny Frisella was the losing pitcher. The triumph enabled the Cards to maintain their 10-game lead over second-place Cincinnati.

Matty Alou, the defending batting titleholder, and Willie Stargell also helped the Pirates down the Braves. Alou collected four hits in five tries lifting his average to .328. Stargell walked a two-run double and his 18th homer.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre had helped the Braves build a 6-4 lead, but Pittsburgh came back in the fourth and regained the lead on Clemente's two-bagger.

Pete Rose drove in the winning run for Cincinnati with a bloop double in the sixth inning that scored Tommy Sharper. The blow broke a 1-1 tie. John Briggs homered for Philadelphia's only tally.

Lou Johnson and Ron Fairly each drove in three runs for the Dodgers against San Francisco. Johnson socked a three-run double while Fairly had a two-run homer and a run-producing single.

Don Drysdale, 60-13, picked up the victory for Los Angeles. However, he had to leave the game in the seventh because of an arm injury. Ray Sadecki, 6-6 took the loss.

The Cubs exploded for all their runs on four singles and an error in the sixth inning against Houston.

The Astros led 1-0, but Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams hit consecutive singles in the sixth for one run. An infield out, an error and Randy Hundley's single accounted for three more.

Amateur golf counters with the Baby Brigade.

The Army, the Pack and the Bunch are the stampeding thousands who follow Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros down the gold-plated fairways. But the Baby Brigade is three-fifths of the field in the U.S. Amateur Championships which began a 72-hole stand on the 6,906-yard West Broadmoor layout today.

There are 150 players in the field here and 91 are 25 years old or less.

Youngest of this brood is Joe Dills of Muskogee, Okla., a 21-year-old who registered a hole-in-one when only six. In contrast, Chuck Kocis of Royal Oak, Mich., is 54 and was a contender in the 1930 amateur when Bob Jones won. They are this tourney's youngest and oldest.

Bobcat Football Coach

FREDDIE GLAZE

Head Football Coach and Athletic Director for his third year at Hope High School is Coach Freddie Glaze.

Coach Glaze came to Hope from a head coaching job at Rison, Arkansas. He is a graduate of Arkadelphia High School, where he was an athlete and president of the student body. From there he went on to finish at Henderson State Teachers College, where he lettered four years at quarterback.

In addition, he was named All-AIC in football as well as baseball.

Al All-State performer in high school, Coach Glaze has had a good football background. His coaching record while at Hope is nine wins, twelve defeats, and one tie.

He is married to the former Connie Harvey of Prescott. Their two children are Marti Kate, age 4, and a two year old son, Grayson.

Malvern and Crossett Are Favorites, Bobcats Rated a Challenger

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
David Alpe took over as coach at Malvern in 1966 and guided the Leopards to an 8-3-1 season. Many of Malvern's victims credited Alpe's offense, the bifocal, with the Leopards' success.

Alpe kind of hems and haws when questioned about the offense.
"You're not going to run anything if you don't have the football players. If you've got as good or better boys you're going to win anyway."

The bifocal, plus eight offensive and seven defensive starters returning, make Malvern the choice of many in Region 4A.

"I still think Crossett is going to be tough," Alpe said. "I think everybody in our conference, on a given night, can win. The only breather we're got is on Thanksgiving morning. We've got an open date then."

Alpe should have the backs to make his offense go. Tailback Royce Pennington, a 180-pounder, returns along with wingback Ernie Cox and two-way starter Bobby Brannum. Brannum is listed as the "short back."

The quarterback will be either senior Eddie Wright or junior Mac Stroud. All-region choice Mike Griffin, a 210-pounder returns at tackle, along with offensive tackle Elwood Edwards who is a threat on Alpe's tackle eligible pass. Defensive tackle Jim O'Neal also is back.

Crossett has won the region title two years in a row but suffered a heavy graduation losses. Returnees include three offensive and two defensive starters. The offensive starters include ends Bob Carter and Jerry Morgan. The quarterback will be Tommy Hollman, a defensive starter in 1966. Linebacker Tom Elliott and guard Travis Brantley will also help.

Hope may be the challenger to Malvern and Crossett. Coach Freddie Glaze has 18 lettermen returning, including eight offensive and nine defensive regulars.

The quarterback will be Buzz Andrews. Tackle - end John Henley, tackle-guard David Fincher and tackle Gary Golden, all in the 190-195-pound class, return along with 175-pound fullback Carroll Beck.

Warren has 17 lettermen returning and could be an offensive power with fullback Leigh Hargis and quarterback Robert Dew. Hargis is a 185-pounder who made the sprint relay team. He is also a tremendous linebacker. Dew has near 10-flat speed. The Lumberjacks also return Ricky Garritt, a two-way starter.

Fairview returns only three offensive starters but all are backs and could make Fairview a darkhorse. The backs include 195-pound fullback Sandy Nutt, quarterback Bubba Wrenzt and halfback Eddie Folse.

Magnolia is also expected to improve over last year. Tackle should be strong with junior Hal Dodson, a 205-pounder, and 205-pound Chuck Lnam, a two-year starter. Larry Eddy, Mike Waters and Randy Fitzhugh started last year in the secondary and are back.

Smackover has quarterback Mike Holloway but doesn't look to challenge for the title. Halfbacks Dennis Biggers and Barry Butler were two-way starters last year and are back. The Buckaroos have eight offensive and nine defensive starters returning.

Only one of Camden's 14 returning lettermen started during the entire season. George Burke, in his first year, says the line may average around 155 pounds. Backs Bill Bird, Mike Reynolds and Bill Dedman and lineman Bobby Shankle appear to be the top prospects.

Arkadelphia wound up 2-9-1 last season and does not figure to be a contender. Guard Kiney Cough and defensive back Mark Estes are the only starters returning.

Houston Not Gushing With Talent

By MURRAY CHASE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers are not exactly gushing with talent, still they believe they're on the way up.

"We want to improve speed-wise on defense, and I think we've done that," said Coach Wally Lemm, whose team won only three of 14 games last season in the American Football League.

"We have a good offensive line. From tackle to tackle it's probably as good as any offensive line in the league. And our running attack should be very good."

Then there's George Webster, a two-time All-America from Michigan State who was the Oilers' No. 1 draft choice.

"He's going to be a great line-backer," Lemm offered. "He hits hard, he has great speed and he has a great desire to play. We traded away a regular line-backer because we know Webster would be good."

Traded was John Baker, who went to San Diego with Scott Appleton for defensive back Miller Farr, one of the players Lemm is high on.

Farr joins Bobby Jancik, Jim Norton and W. K. Hicks in the defensive secondary. Behind them are rookies Pete Johns, Larry Carwell, Zeke Moore and Ken Houston.

The interior offensive line that Lemm thinks so much of has Walt Suggs and Glen Ray Hines at the tackles, Bob Talamini and Sonny Bishop at the guards and Bobby Maples at center.

The running attack behind them consists of Hoyle Granger and Sid Blanks with the emphasis on Granger.

Cameron Is Winner of Premier Stake

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Del Cameron held his two fingers about an inch apart and declared, "I missed being knocked completely out of the race by this much."

Cameron won his third Hambletonian—the premier stake for 3-year-old trotters—Wednesday with Speedy Streak's victory over 11 others came in successive 2:00 and 2:01 heats before 25,000 screaming fans in the betless race at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds.

In the first mile heat, Speedy Streak beat Kestone Pride by four lengths, one of the biggest winning margins in the 10 years the Kentucky Derby of harness racing has been in Du Quoin.

"In the back stretch of that heat," Cameron disclosed, "Armbo Harold missed by an inch of locking wheels with me. There was a lot going on behind me at the time and if we had locked, it would have been disastrous. We would have been knocked out of the race. It gave me a scare."

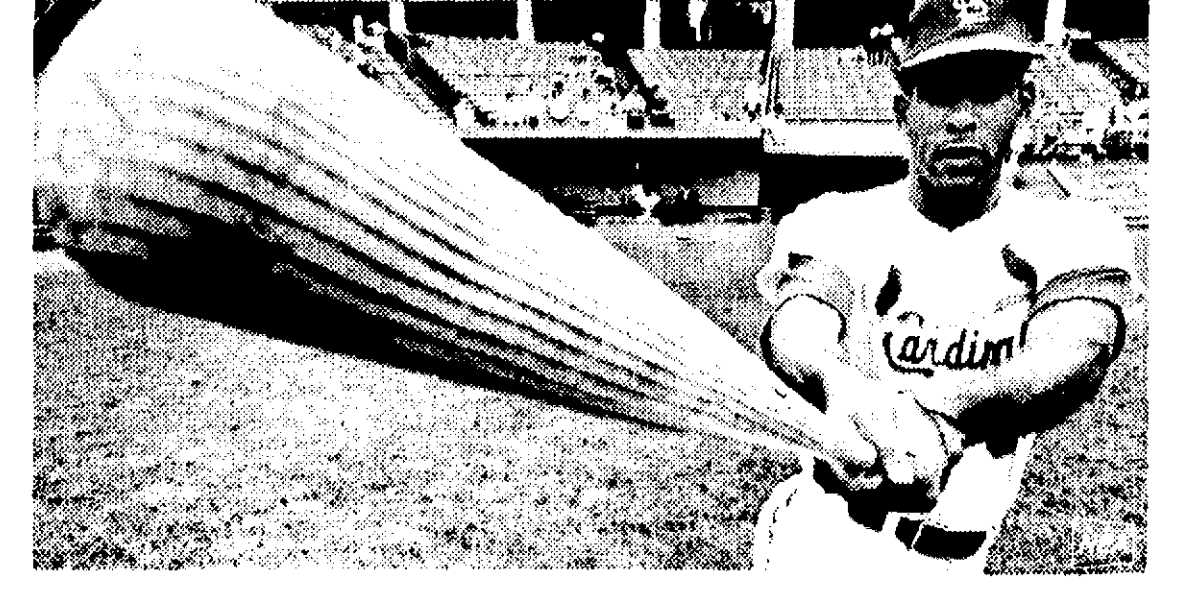

Speedy Streak, barreling along from the outside in the stretch, won the second heat and the trophy by one length over the filly, Speed Model.

The victory was worth $60,000 and boosted Speedy Streak's total earnings to $94,779. He will try to surpass his price tag at Indianapolis next week.

Life In Arkansas

BY TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
One thing about Mrs. Dick Bridges of Arkadelphia is that she isn't afraid to try something different. And her latest experiment turned out to be more gratifying than even she expected.

Mrs. Bridges plucked a recipe out of a circular published by the University of Arkansas' Agricultural Extension Service. The concoction allows her to give her furniture the appearance of an old pine finish with a plug of chewing tobacco and a pint of household ammonia. Mrs. Bridges said she has tried the stain on a half dozen old pieces of furniture, and she said "like it better for lighter colored woods" than the store bought kind.

The mixing sounds simple enough. First you break up one plug of chewing tobacco into a jar; add a pint of household ammonia; place the lid on the jar and soak the tobacco for 12 hours; then dip a lintless cloth into the stain and apply to the furniture.

That was the recipe in the circular, but Mrs. Bridges said that she strained the mixture through a piece of nylon stocking before applying. This is to remove the bits of tobacco. "You want to use it outside and wear rubber gloves," she said. "You have to put it on evenly, like all stains, and you can use more than one coat to get a desired shade."

A coat should be allowed to dry overnight before another is applied.

"I wanted the grain of the wood brought out more and it does that," she said.

A Navy reservist from Conway, flying a low-level training flight recently over the northern portion of the state, wanted a positive identification of the town he was over.

By his best navigation, he thought it was St. Joe or Gilbert. His wingman, who was flying above and slightly behind was asked by the pilot to obtain the name of the town from the water tank.

As they zoomed seconds later past the area, the pilot radioed to his wingman: "What was the name on the water tank?"

"Seniors '66," the wingman replied.

Patriotic Party Bldg. Dynamited

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — The headquarters of the Patriotic party, an ultraconservative organization founded by Minuteman leader Robert B. DePugh, was dynamited early today.

There were no injuries, police said, although four persons were sleeping in the old, one-story frame building. The party headquarters and an adjoining antique shop were extensively damaged by the blast.

DePugh, chairman of the Patriotic party, founded the right-wing group on July 4, 1966.

The Minuteman leader from Norborne, Mo., is free on bond while appealing a National Firearms Act conviction in a Kansas City, Mo., federal court.

The Silver Bonanza May Be Over

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The silver bonanza may soon be over.

That's what the government experts now foresee in the wake of a more settled market for silver following the price eruption last month.

Some speculators in silver certificates made windfall profits on the sharp rise in silver prices which followed the Treasury Department's abandonment of its policy of selling silver for $1.29 an ounce.

But one became a millionaire and although there's more profit to be made the experts think the worst of the speculation is over.

The price of silver shot to more than $1.80 an ounce after the Treasury abandoned its $1.29 price in July. But the price is now below $1.70 and the government last Friday sold some for as little as $1.6 an ounce.

"The bonanza may be short-lived," one official said. "There's going to be plenty of silver to fill the need."

There are 41,000 oil wells in California.

COLD WAR FISH STORY

FIGURES IN MILLIONS OF POUNDS

The Soviet Union's drive to be No. 1 extends to the field of commercial deep-sea fishing. Comparative statistics recorded by the United Nations show a rapid rise in the Soviet annual catch throughout the postwar period. During much of this period, the U.S. take has been in gradual decline.

Democrats Split Over Vietnam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sizeable elements in the Democratic party opposed to the Vietnam war are divided and uncertain about how to give political expression to their view.

Whether they can unite on a course of action is one interesting angle to watch in the developing 1968 political picture.

It is antiwar sentiment which energizes the "draft Kennedy" effort.

This is of course not the sole motivation. It embraces admirers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a man and those attracted by what he has said about domestic matters.

But without the antiwar feeling the draft Kennedy movement would have wrecked long ago on the rock of Kennedy's repeated assertions that he supports President Johnson for re-election.

As it is, Citizens for Kennedy, with headquarters in New York, claims some 60 chapters scattered across the country. Dr. Martin Shepard, the New York co-chairman, says it is continuing to grow.

Opposition to the war also has fueled the organization of the National Conference for New Politics which convenes Friday in Chicago. It embraces antiwar and civil rights groups. There is talk this gathering may lead to the fielding of a national ticket of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., for president, and Dr. Benjamin Spock for vice president. Both are strongly critical of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

However, Spock, a pediatrician nationally known for his writings on baby care, deprecates the likelihood of a national ticket in a letter to a Washington acquaintance.

"If it should decide on a national ticket, which I think not very likely, it would probably be a standby ticket, pending the selections of the Republican and Democratic nominees," he wrote.

"If either old party chose a half-peaceful candidate, I would think any New Politics national ticket would certainly be withdrawn."

Spock's letter was to Joseph L. Rauh, a Washington lawyer who is seeking to unite "peace Democrats" behind a movement for a peace plank in the 1968 Democratic platform.

Rauh's plan contemplates an effort from the grass roots level to elect peace delegates to the convention. Selection of delegates will begin early next year.

In late July, he sent a 15-page memorandum outlining his ideas to some 350 Democrats. This argued that a third party (New Politics) or "dump Johnson" (draft Kennedy) effort were the weakest political moves the peace movement could make.

On the other hand, he contended, an effort on behalf of a peace plank would be a strong move. He suggested that if beaten in the platform committee, a minority report could be brought in and debated in the convention with the full exposure of the television networks.

A built-in favor of strength for Rauh's plan is that most of the Senate and House doves presumably will be delegates to the convention. They are men of influence in their state parties. It is unlikely, for instance, that Arkansas Democrats would refuse to make Sen. J. W. Fulbright a delegate if he wants to be one.

Warns Burglars Nothing There

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP) — Joe Mathews is writing his advertisements for burglars, robbers and thieves.

"Get your cash somewhere else," he admonished in a three-column six-inch ad in the Electra Star-News.

Mathews, co-owner and manager of an Electra lumber company, wrote: "To the burglars, robbers and thieves who have broken into our office five times within the past six months.

"The safe is not locked.

"And no money is kept in it overnight. Money is deposited in the bank's night depository slot and has been handled that way since you got the $81 from the bottom part of the safe.

"Stop breaking our windows and door glasses. Get your cash somewhere else."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The foolish man seeks happiness in the distance; the wise grows it under his feet. —James Oppenheim said it.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

A welner roast and record hop will be given at the home of Miss Mary Maxwell Friday night September 1st, sponsored by Miss Maxwell and Mrs. Doris Weston. Plenty of homemade ice cream will be available. The public is invited to attend. Miss Maxwell lives on North St.

A welner roast will be held at Bethel A.M.E. Church Saturday night September 2nd, sponsored by the Young Peoples' department of the Church. The public is invited to attend.

COMING AND GOING

Mrs. Marie Turner has returned to her home in Albany, New York after having been at the bedside and attended the funeral of her step-father, Mr. Earmon Smith.

Efficiency Group Needs $75,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday night the Governmental Efficiency Study Commission needed about $75,000 for its work, $60,000 more than the legislature appropriated.

The governor told about 300 executives at a commission kickoff dinner that they may be asked for financial contributions. Many of them also will be asked to lend their top executives to the commission.

Rockefeller said the legislature had treated the commission about like it had treated him by appropriating only $15,000 for the commission's work. He said, however, the people would be grateful to the commission for its efforts to determine more efficient ways to run the government.

Warren J. King of Warren King & Associates, Inc., of Chicago, the consulting firm that will aid the commission study told the executives that similar studies in other states had produced "very positive results."

King said the study would take 22 weeks and that it would need the use of 41 trained specialists for 10 weeks.

Kenneth Rush of New York, president of Union Carbide Corp. also spoke, saying there should be more co-operation and less distrust between industry and government.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new look of Warner Brothers—Seven Arts was previewed this week. Audience reaction: favorable.

The Hollywood press corps has long been accustomed to trooping out to Burbank for functions presided over by Jack L. Warner, sometimes called "The Last Tycoon."

The Warner speeches were one of the hazards of covering the film scene, since he enjoyed rambling far afield in search of wisecracks, most of them non sequiturs.

Most of his fellow pioneers died in office or were pushed out of the business; Warner chose recently to relinquish his 44-year hold on the studio. The aggressive new firm of Seven Arts bought his share of Warner Brothers and assumed charge of the company last June 14.

It was an entirely different scene when the new studio management was introduced on Stage 1 at the Burbank lot this week. The man in charge is Kenneth Hyman, a lean, handsome 38, New York-born, but with a trace of British tones from his service in England as a film producer.

Hyman's is not exactly a Horatio Alger story, since his father happens to be Eliot Hyman, president of Seven Arts. But the younger Hyman also has a good film-making record, having been connected with at least two smash hits, "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "The Dirty Dozen."

Guard Shakeup Is Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Wednesday that the "shakeup which confronts the Arkansas National Guard would produce false economy and result in less efficiency.

Hammerschmidt said that under the plan of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara the number of troops in the state would increase from 7,720 to 8,034. He said the plan "appears to be fine, but it is highly deceptive."

"These loyal men deserve better than the shabby, off-hand exile from productive military training, imposed by the McNamara Guard plan," Hammerschmidt said.

Says Castro Playing His Last Card

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — "Fidel Castro is playing his last card in a losing game, but he doesn't know it. He just doesn't know how desperate he is."

Things are going for violent revolution.

The speaker was Ramon Vargas, 25, former comandante or major—the highest rank in a Castroite urban guerrilla unit.

With him was an equally disillusioned comrade in arms, Julio Romero, 24. Both were arrested last March in a crackdown by Digeopol, the Venezuelan secret police.

Wearing casual civilian clothes, they sat in the office of Dr. Nelson Lehmann, 30, the boyish-looking head of Digeopol—General Directorate of Police—and talked freely if acidly about Castro's program for hemispheric political violence laid down at the recent Havana conference.

The pair also spoke authoritatively.

Vargas, a university sophomore, had been in the urban guerrillas since 1960, he said, and his superior was Douglas Bravo, Castro's No. 1 guerrilla leader in Venezuela. Bravo and Luban Petkoff head what's left of the battered Armed Forces of National Liberation or FALN, the Castroite guerrillas in the mountains.

Romero, a militant in a Marxist splinter of the ruling Accion Democratica party, said he served a two-year hitch with the mountain guerrillas before joining the urban ranks.

Neither has been in Cuba but their colleagues' experiences there are well known to them. Venezuelans attending the Havana conferences, they said, give their Cuban hosts distorted accounts of the situation at home.

"Fidel gets a blown-up, inaccurate idea of what's really going on," Vargas said. "The whole thing is being done only to justify the enormous subsidies they receive, as much as a million sometimes."

A million dollars? "Yes," he explained, "and sometimes less. Petkoff once returned from Cuba with 60 men and $700,000."

The entire Venezuelan guerrilla movement, Romero estimated, has less than 1,000 men under arms and split into small groups.

Vietnam Press Comes Alive in Campaign

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's presidential campaign is making the local press livelier than ever before. The newspapers are enjoying their freedom, but frequently adding more heat than light to the election.

When political censorship was lifted last month few editors were ready to accept the decree of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky at face value. As the candidates themselves grew bolder, however, the press followed suit.

Now the newspapers have surpassed the politicians and the reader is getting a heady political diet. The censored white space or delicate circumlocutions of the past has been replaced by uninhibited reporting.

Within the past few weeks Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a presidential aspirant, has been called a traitor in print. Lesser though similarly emphatic labels have been applied to all his civilian rivals for the presidency.

Such free-wheeling treatment is not universal. In Saigon's 38 daily newspapers published in Vietnamese, Chinese, French or English. But it is widespread enough to have made candidates of all stripes wince. Since the newspapers represent practically all brands of opinion save Communism or outright neutralism, they have lashed out at everyone.

Thieu and his vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, were stung daily. A wide range of newspapers—mostly two- and four-sheet dailies with more enthusiasm than money—have printed charges that Ky and Thieu are using their governmental positions to put pressure on provincial officials.

The honesty of the election machinery has become the overriding issue so far as the newspapers are concerned.

"Provincial officials are breaking their backs to support Thieu and Ky," one daily charged. "Obviously they are doing this to strengthen their own positions with their boss."

es."

Although the papers have borrowed the words "hawk" and "dove" from the American press, none has come forward with anything like a conciliatory policy toward the Communists. They might generally be classified as outright hawks or just plain hawks, although practically all of them are conscious of the peace issue and discuss how it might be brought about.

On such issues as land reform, taxes, corruption or the American presence in Vietnam, the papers like the candidates have been noisier than they have been specific.

On the other hand they have used their new, and possibly temporary, freedom to bring a lot of issues into the public domain. The U.S. presence is no longer sacrosanct.

There are areas where the press is still reluctant to venture too far. When the military junta recently disclosed that a shakeup was being planned in which some corrupt officers would get the ax, the local press named no names although foreign correspondents freely did so.

Such reluctance to tangle openly with the military is privately admitted by editors who fear that the present freedom cannot continue. Even if political censorship remains lifted, the government has such weapons as control of the newsprint supply and tax laws at its disposal.

For the moment, however, the military has evidently kept its pledge to let the press talk freely about the elections.

Girl Shot to Death by Sister

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Shirlee Johnson, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arzo Johnson of Little Rock, was fatally wounded Monday by a blast from a shotgun held by her four-year-old sister.

Police said the younger girl had taken the gun from a closet while her parents were at work.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Heart Attack Victim Should See Specialist
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is the medical name for a damaged heart muscle? What causes it? Is it serious? What is the treatment?

A—Myocardial infarction is the condition that results when the circulation to the heart muscle is cut off by a blood clot or hardening of the arteries. It is serious but, if the victim is allowed to rest for about six weeks, new channels of circulation become established and the victim can gradually increase his activity. He must, however, avoid excessive fatigue and attacks of chest pain.

Q—I have arteriosclerotic heart disease with infarction. I am taking Librium, Persantin and dicumarol. What are they for? Must I take them for the rest of my life?

A—Librium is a mild tranquilizer. Persantin is given to dilate your blood vessels. Dicumarol is an anticoagulant. You should take them as long as your doctor feels that you need them unless they cause undesirable side effects. In time you should be able to discontinue the Librium and dicumarol.

Q—A few years ago I had a coronary heart attack and the doctor prescribed digitalis. Now my family doctor says I don't need it. Would it be safe to continue to take it anyway? Which of these drugs—Isordil and Peritrate—is the better for my heart?

A—Digitalis is given to strengthen your heart beat. Since the dosage should be carefully adjusted to meet your individual needs it should not be taken if you don't need it. Anyone who is taking this drug regularly should receive supplementary potassium as a salt or in his diet.

Isordil and Peritrate are both given to dilate the blood vessels in persons who have attacks of angina pectoris. A trial period with each, under medical supervision, should determine which is best for you.

WIN AT BRIDGE
Bidding Gives Danger Signal
By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband has had four attacks of myocardial infarction. He is now taking Coumadin, Cardilate, Librium, Hydrodiuril, Digoxin, Empirin and, when he needs it, nitroglycerin. Do you think it is necessary for him to take so many drugs? Should he see a heart specialist? What would cause him to vomit every morning?

A—Your husband is indeed a walking drugstore. Coumadin is an anticoagulant, Cardilate and nitroglycerin are blood vessel dilators, Hydrodiuril is a diuretic, Digoxin is a digitalis preparation and Empirin is a form of aspirin. It should not be necessary to take all these drugs for a prolonged period.

It is always wise to see a heart specialist if one has had a heart attack. There are many causes of vomiting. They include severe attacks of angina pectoris and taking too much medicine, especially digitalis.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

One of the hardest things for a bridge player to learn is that when both opponents bid and his partner is quiet, he had best keep quiet also unless he has a lot of distributional factors.

South had a nice comfortable opening bid. His 15 high-card points included three aces and he had two nice four-card suits. He opened one diamond and waited happily for the bidding to develop.

It developed in a way that should have warned him to stay out of the bidding from then on. West overcalled with one heart and all North could do was to pass. East managed to try one no-trump. South should have seen that the hand did not belong to him and given up any idea of competing but he wasn't going to do anything like that. He had a sound opening bid with one or two jacks above the minimum and he had a second four card suit to show. He bid two clubs.

Lightning didn't strike immediately — North had too much club support — but when it did hit it burned the barn down.

West made a slightly optimistic bid of three hearts and North went to four clubs. For all North knew his side might have a cinch for five or six clubs and East and West might have just as easy a game in hearts. If you don't think so, just trade South's jack of hearts for East's ten of diamonds. In that case only a spade lead or spade shift would beat five clubs and nothing will beat four hearts.

South's actual hand is such that a diamond opening will hold West to nine tricks at hearts. As for the four club contract, West decided to double and the defense picked up five tricks to score 500 points.

♥+CARD Sense+♥
Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♣ Dble Pass 2 N.T.
Pass 3 ♣ Pass 3 ♥
Pass 4 ♥ Pass ?
You, South, hold:
♠ K 9 ♠ J 5 ♠ 4 3 2 ♠ K 10 7 6
What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner has bid very strongly but your king of clubs is likely to be opposite a singleton and worthless for slam purposes.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four hearts over your three hearts, your partner bids three spades. What do you do now?

LBj and RFK Relations Strill Cool

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never a nasty word between them. They're playing it cool. But the relationship between President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy looks cool enough to be freezing.

The New York Democrat has been careful not to make any frontal assaults on Johnson and has even praised him, perhaps to pacify the President in case he thought Kennedy was out to get his job.

But to Johnson, always sensitive to criticism, having Kennedy around must be like being nudged by a hot poker. The senator has been generous with his criticism of the Johnson administration and with advice, too.

In 1965, less than a year after going to the Senate but while his fans were thinking of him as a candidate for something in presidential 1968, Kennedy went out of his way to brush off the idea. First, and he repeated it, he said he had no intention of running for the vice presidency in 1968 (Johnson had banned him from that berth in the 1964 elections), only expected to seek re-election to the Senate in 1970, and had no plans to seek the presidency in 1972.

Later he said he would support Johnson for re-election in 1968, adding: "I have great admiration for what the President has done here in the United States and in our relationships with countries overseas."

"I have great respect for him and I think we agree on by far the larger percentage of major issues... he has been an outstanding President... and I look forward to campaigning for him in 1968."

But while Johnson has gone to great pains to get the South Vietnamese to hold elections Sept. 3, Kennedy recently said those elections looked like a fraud to him.

Over a year ago Kennedy said he favored elections in Vietnam but suggested international observers should be there to see what happens. Kennedy wasn't the only recent critic on the elections. Now Johnson is sending observers.

Critics, and Kennedy was one of them, jumped all over Johnson for sending U.S. troops into the Dominican Republic in 1965 when the President said he feared Communists might try to take over.

Kennedy said he thought such a move would damage relations with the rest of Latin America. Later he said the Dominican elections which this country sponsored "rectified the damage."

Kennedy has been a constant critic of Johnson's handling of the war in Vietnam, and a constant adviser.

He said in 1965 Johnson should consult with Congress before sending any more troops there; urged the cease-fire at Christmastime that year be extended (Johnson extended it for a month afterward); was critical of the "escalation" of the war; called for a halt in the bombing coupled with peace negotiations within a week (this was disregarded); and thought the Viet Cong should take part in the peace talks (the administration has never agreed to that yet).

Believes in Strong State Government

By BILL STALL
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Proclaimed in bold golden letters high over Abraham Lincoln's portrait and the elevated speaker's rostrum of the California Assembly is the Latin sentence: "Legislatorum Est Justas Leges Condere."

Translation: "It is the duty of legislators to make just laws."

But far more than that, believes Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, the 20th century legislature should be an enlightened, vigorous, and inventive. The 44-year-old Unruh is California's most powerful legislator, and its most powerful Democrat in the wake of last fall's Republican election victories which placed Ronald Reagan in the governor's chair.

Elsewhere, whenever he has the chance, Unruh is one of the nation's most energetic and outspoken advocates of a strong state government and particularly an independent legislature, free from outside pressures and with the prestige and power similar to those of the nation's restless early years.

For decades, too many legislative halls have been power vacuums, Unruh feels, echoing and rubber-stamping the demands of special interest groups.

Now Unruh sees the pendulum beginning to swing back, with California in the forefront. "It's very slow," said Unruh during an interview in his office, part of an expansive complex which houses the speaker's staff. His own office is decorated with modern paintings and mementoes of Unruh's travels and his association with the Kennedy family.

Seldom does Unruh preside over the Assembly, and he normally speaks—in eloquent rising and falling tones—only on the major issues, or a pet bill.

The prime resistances to strong state legislatures comes from the business community, Unruh contends, "not so much out of fear of the legislature, but because businessmen know what their situation is now and they don't know what it would be."

Other opposition comes from the vast federal bureaucracy, Unruh further believes, citing a frustrated attempt to get a federal study grant for legislative leaders.

Despite all this, Unruh says states have done more in the past three years than in the previous half century to equip their governments with the tools needed to act decisively.

"It has begun...but there is a long way to go," Unruh said. California has come far. All 120 legislators—80 in the Assembly and 40 in the Senate—have offices, both in the Capitol and in their home districts. Most have an administrative assistant.

Committees and their chairmen have staff consultants for research, and the legislative branch has its own well-paid fiscal and legal experts.

THE BELLS RING NOT FOR HER

Dear Helen: I'm 20, soon to be married. This is a happy, exciting moment for most girls, but not for me. I met my fiancé in high school and we've gone steady ever since. I scarcely dated any other boy.

Around senior year I began to suspect that much of my affection was habit. But the thought of braving a huge university alone was enough to keep me playing the role. Besides, he's always loved me and I couldn't bear to hurt him.

Last year before he went into the service, we became formally engaged. On his last leave, I felt so gully about not loving him that I tried to prove I did. Now I'm pregnant. We'll be married on his next leave. I don't love him. I probably never did. I like him, like to be with him, but I feel that a life with him will be one continuous act. Just like the last four years.

I only gave in once. That's all it took to destroy my life. I can't help thinking I'd never have reached this if my parents or someone had looked at that class ring the first day I got it and ordered me to give it back. But then, I have to be truthful and realize I probably wouldn't have listened or obeyed.—TRAPPED

Dear Trapped: Has it occurred to you that your fiancé may also feel trapped? You haven't got a corner on "pretending", you know. Perhaps he wants out as badly as you do but thinks he must marry you to give the baby a name.

Try complete honesty. Perhaps you'll discover it's best to part—or you MAY find out you care a lot more than you realize just now. Marriage jitters hit almost everyone, and they hit doubly hard when the bride is pregnant.—H.

Dear Helen: Sometimes I lie in bed and cry half the night.

I think about what a worm I am, and then I think about what a big hypocrite I am and how really stupid. Then I get this crazy idea that only a near genius would admit being stupid, after which I realize that I'm just trying to fool myself again. Because of this I hate myself. Then a little self pity creeps in, but I hate people who feel sorry for themselves so I hate myself even more.

It doesn't take much of this to start the ol' lachrymal glands producing tears. Just recently my mother and I had our first big clashing of wills, which didn't help matters.

I have always kept to myself. I never let my true self show. Nobody knows what I'm really like, not even my own sister. I can't really talk to anyone.

Helen, I'm nearly 17 and already coming apart at the seams. Should I see a psychiatrist or something?—W.C.H.

Dear W: You should find an understanding listener, honey, and if she is wise and perceptive enough, I doubt you'll need a psychiatrist. For starters, write your mother a letter telling her how badly you feel about the "clash," but how this may finally be the breakthrough to real talk. I think she'll take it from there.—H.

Dear Helen: This sounds like out of torrid confessions, but around here quite a few kids know it happens sometimes. My girl friend, 15, ran away to be with the Hippies. She called me the other night and told me she thought she was pregnant and all so that she might have VD. She's afraid to tell her mother. What should she do?—She's not for flower power much any more.—M.C.

Thursday, August 31, 1967
Dear M: She'd better believe in mother power for a change! Tell her folks where she can be located. They'll see that she gets the proper help.—H.

Bell Signals New 100 Club Member

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — In the dimly lit, night-club-style officers' club at Korat Air Force Base hangs a bell which every pilot flying over North Vietnam has an ambition to ring.

When it clangs through the mess and the pilot yells "Drinks all round" it means he has joined the exclusive 100-mission club.

He can relax. No more briefings. No more flak. No more MIGs.

He has finished his tour. He's going home.

Many pilots don't live to ring the bell.

Some, like Karl Richter, tried to ring it twice.

Fellow fighter pilots say Lt. Richter had ice water for blood. He was shot down last month on his 198th mission. He had applied to fly 100 more from South Vietnam.

There are six other bases in Thailand similar to Korat where the pilots have similar customs and face similar dangers.

But the names of the bases—Utapa, Takhli, Udorn, Ubon, Nakhon Phanom—are unlikely to become household words and be talked about for deeds in the Vietnam war.

A tight security ban on news reporting from the bases has robbed the 40,000 Air Force men in Thailand of the satisfaction of seeing their part in the war recognized publicly.

The United States has lost more than 650 aircraft over North Vietnam. Over half came from Thai bases. More than 400 F105s have been shot down over North and South Vietnam. Most of these, too, came from Thai bases.

But the exploits of the pilots, apart from summaries given out at daily briefings in Saigon, are barely noticeable in accounts of the war. "We're not glory hunters," said one Air Force pilot. "But it burns us up when we're shouldering the biggest part of the load and we don't get credit for it."

"We go out day after day at heavily defended targets and no one says anything—unless it is 'Stop the bombing.'"

"But the Navy goes out and drops a couple of 500-pound bombs and they make big headlines."

"You'd think we weren't in the war."

Despite grumbles, the morale of the fighter and fighter bomber pilots is high.

The atmosphere among them is always tense.

They all know that the guy who sits next to you at breakfast may be shot down this afternoon—and, as happened in May, paraded through the streets of Hanoi before a jeering crowd of North Vietnamese.

Opinions Are Varied on Hippie Ordeal

By EDITH LEDERER
NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 400 tattooed artists, architects and religious leaders wearing rope nooses around their necks tried out the "hippie" life of psychedelic lights, discordant music and spontaneous happenings Tuesday night—at a Greenwich Village church.

The happening—officially billed as an "ordeal"—started with a kiss and ended with an order, "Get out!" and a push out the door.

For more than an hour, the participants took turns facing the hot lights of a police line-up, listening to bedtime stories while curled up with stuffed animals on long church pew cushions, and crawling through a blackened simulation of purgatory. "It was trip—like what those LSD trips must be like," said one smiling nun as she emerged from Judson Memorial church.

Others disagreed. "It's a bunch of people taking themselves seriously about I don't know what," said a rabbi. "If this is a commentary on American life, it's a pretty infantile commentary." Father Francis Houart of the University of Louvain in Belgium concluded, "It makes you think—just because there is no specific meaning you have to find some meaning."

As he walked off, Harold Spitznagel, an architect from Sioux Falls, S.D., told his friends, "I think I was put on." The ordeals were created by members of the church's art program for leaders attending the 1967 International Congress on Religion, Architecture and the Visual Arts.

"The idea was to strip away people's hangups and to expose various aspects of an all-urban culture," explained Hugh Pickett, a church participant.

Men entering the church were especially pleased by their greeting from Sandy Padilla.

"I'm a kisser," she laughingly explained as she put on a fresh coat of lipstick. "No—I'm really a student at New York University."

As each man and woman approached, she said, "I have something for you"—and planted a big kiss on their cheek.

Mrs. Tore Fryhle of Bergenfield, N.J., wife of a minister was disappointed. "You don't have any men?" she asked Sandy, after watching the girl give her husband a kiss. Sandy replied—by kissing her cheek and sending her on.

First Brigade Has Crew for Snatch Mission

BONG SON PLAIN, Vietnam (AP) — Because the idea is to move in quickly and capture people, the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division officially calls them snatch missions.

Working with field forces of the South Vietnamese national police, the troopers conduct an average of two such missions a day in this coastal area 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

They move in with swift air operations that are designed to catch Viet Cong or North Vietnamese regulars who try to mingle with the peasants in the fields or people in hamlets and villages.

The Communists figure they won't be subject to an all-out shooting assault if they blend themselves with the people, and the snatch missions are designed to counter this strategy.

Here is what it is like on a typical mission with the 1st Battalion, 12th Cavalry:

Lt. Col. Lloyd R. Rhiddlehoover of Hot Springs, Ark., the battalion commander, and Maj. Roderick E. Ordway of Chevy Chase, Md., crank up their command helicopter and fly over hostile territory looking for likely objectives. Back at the base, six helicopters with a platoon of cavalrymen stand by for orders.

"When we see a lot of people in the open fields working, we swoop down on them," Rhiddlehoover said. "I first select a target area by throwing smoke grenades, then helicopters loading with U.S. troopers and Vietnamese national police swoop down and corral them right where they are, men, women and children."

"The national police then interrogate them and weed out the suspects. We get a lot of intelligence from the ones we round up. When the police get one, it snowballs. They make them talk."

"One of the Viet Cong we picked up gave us information that he knew where there were about 30 other Viet Cong. The next day we went in to police up the area. We picked up eight hard-core Viet Cong and weapons. The hideout was a message center for the district in the Bong Son plain. That was the contact point for the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong."

Working with the snatch teams are two scout ships, little bubble-topped helicopters that fly just above the ground chasing Viet Cong suspects who try to run.

"We try different times of the day," Ordway said. "Morning is the best time to hit. At times when they see us fly low, they wave at us. These Viet Cong, they're getting smarter all the time. One time one was dressed QUICKIE CHANGE from evening dress to bikini would not be a change at all with this do-it-yourself bit of fashion introduced in London. The several snapper-fitted leather bands may be removed individually to create any length of garment.

Says WR to Use Session Politically

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who says he will call the General Assembly into special session in January, will try to use the special session as a launching pad for a second term, one of the governor's potential General Election opponents predicted Monday.

Speaker of the House Sterling R. Cockrill Jr., of Little Rock, who has been mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told a civic club here that the Democratic legislature "will have to be careful so as not to help him with his launching..."

Cockrill said the legislature would have to screen the administration's legislative package very carefully to see that any bill of merit got through.

If the legislators simply blocked all of the governor's programs, he could use this against them next year, Cockrill said.

Cockrill also said that Arkansas should become more involved in state government between elections now that there is a two-party system.

Politicians Need Protection From Civil Service

AUTUMN NOTE

South Arkansas' overnight low temperature plunges below readings in Denver and Alaska, there is the ominous sound of thousands of kids getting ready for school—but you know Autumn is really just around the corner when you get up in the morning and find your dog huddled up against the east side of the house waiting for the sun to warm him.

Postal workers aren't going to like this but those old enough to know the history of federal service will appreciate it as a truthful commentary.

A generation ago most fair-minded citizens were advocating civil service to protect federal workers from the constant job-turnover of the politicians' spoils system. So we got civil service and protection for the workers.

But events in Washington this week suggest that what we need now is still another program to protect the politicians from the effects of civil service. For today the civil service rank-and-file, in the Post Office Department at least, are organized—and are throwing their weight around in the same manner the politicians used to.

Yesterday's newspapers reported that representatives of the 63,000-member postal union are picketing the White House to force a 15 per cent pay increase.

If it was fair comment a generation ago to denounce the politicians for changing federal job-holders to suit their political appointment appetite it is eminently fair comment today to denounce the postal union's strong-arm tactics at the White House.

Isn't the first ironic page of history to demonstrate how the passage of time turns yesterday's oppressed into today's oppressors.

UAW Planning to Beef Up Strike Fund

By A.F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers' national council at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler recommended today calling of a special UAW convention to beef up the union's strike fund.

Identical resolutions passed at separate meetings of the councils called for the convention in the event one of the Big Three automakers is struck when contracts expire at midnight next Wednesday.

The action tended to heighten speculation that General Motors would be the target company picked by the union to set the pattern for new three-year contracts at all the firms. Current union resources would permit longer strikes at Ford or Chrysler.

The convention, according to reliable sources would be called for Sept. 23, but presumably only in the event of a strike.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther has called a news conference for later today apparently to announce the target company.

Once the target is selected, negotiations usually are recessed at the other companies while the union hammers out a contract with the one company or strikes it. In the event of a strike, the other two companies continue to operate.

The news conference is set for 5:15 p.m. EDT.

The UAW's $67-million strike fund is sufficient to last only a few weeks at GM. It would support strikes of much longer duration at either Ford or Chrysler.

Still No Sign of Horse, Rider

TRENTON, Fla. (AP) — Divers were expected to probe murky waters at the bottom of a huge sinkhole late today in a continuing search for Cecil Davis, 20, who vanished Aug. 14 when he rode his horse into a pasture.

Using dynamite and draglines, workers had enlarged the limestone cavern so divers could reach the water, 50 feet down, where it was feared Davis and his horse might have fallen.

'DER FUHRER' of the American Nazi party, George Lincoln Rockwell, who was shot and killed Aug. 25 in Arlington, Va., is shown lighting his familiar cornucop pipe near the swastika-topped Victorian house that served as his party headquarters. The house was located near the shopping center where Rockwell was killed by a sniper.

1928 Florida Teachers Quit Jobs

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Public schools in Pinellas County were closed today—just one day after opening for the fall term—as teachers and the school board waited for developments in the dispute that caused 1,928 teachers to resign.

Early today the school board adopted a resolution asking the Florida legislature to call itself into special session to "resolve the current crisis of education in Pinellas County and throughout the state of Florida."

The resolution was similar to one demanded by the Pinellas Classroom Teachers' Association (PCTA), but acceptance by the teachers still was questionable.

The association's executive committee issued a statement after the school board meeting saying "the issue is not completely resolved. Until the final determination is made by the executive board, resignations are still in effect."

The teachers and the school board have tentatively agreed on a new salary scale, but association President Fred Cekau said the new contract was acceptable only if coupled with the resolution calling for a special session of the legislature.

The tentative salary agreement would give teachers salary increases ranging from $440 to $1,035 a year for beginning teachers, depending upon the degree held by the individual.

Your Status Only Way to Tell How You Fare in Modern Rat Race

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is your status?

Having status in America is as important as saving face is in the Orient.

Without it you're a rimless human zero, a nothing, as undistinguished as a flyspeck in a Bowery restaurant. You have no more impact on the world than a figure in a wax museum.

But with status you're a somebody. You make echoes. In time they may even throw you a testimonial dinner at which you can eat for nothing.

Since status is so important, naturally a fellow worries about achieving it and keeping it. It's the only way he can judge how he's faring in the modern rat race.

But how can a man tell, whether his status is slipping? Here are a few warning signs that indicate you're on the way to becoming the low man on the totem pole:

The boss fidgets and looks the other way when you try to brighten up a dull conference with a funny story.

You have trouble keeping cockroaches out of the briefcase in which you carry your lunch to work.

When you want to play golf, you always have to call somebody else up because nobody ever calls you.

If you try to enter the office bowling league, each team captain tells you his team is full.

The office boy generally delivers your mail to the wrong desk—he hasn't taken the trouble

Rockwell's Body Is Cremated, Group to Take Burial to Court

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The racist American Nazi party has turned to a civil liberties group in its bid to bury the cremated remains of slain commander George Lincoln Rockwell in a military cemetery.

Lawrence Spelzer, director of the Northern Virginia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said his group has accepted a Nazi request and will seek a court injunction to force the Department of the Army to permit interment of Rockwell's remains in a national cemetery.

The ACLU often has waged civil rights court fights on behalf of Negroes—the primary targets, along with Jews, of Rockwell's racist harangues and tracts.

Rockwell's body was cremated Wednesday after party spokesmen said half a dozen cemeteries turned down requests for space in which to bury him. The Army originally granted permission for Rockwell, a former Navy commander, to be buried in Culpeper National Cemetery.

But Army troops blocked the burial party from the Virginia cemetery Tuesday when party members refused orders to shed Nazi paraphernalia.

After the cremation performed without advance notice at an Arlington undertaking establishment—Rockwell's remains were brought secretly back to the ramshackle home that was his party command post for several years.

Marshall Is Confirmed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, great-grandson of a slave and longtime fighter for equal rights for Negroes, has won Senate confirmation as the nation's first Negro Supreme Court justice.

By a 69 to 11 margin, the Senate confirmed Wednesday President Johnson's nomination of Marshall, 57, who was for many years chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Marshall, currently U.S. solicitor general, will fill a high court vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Tom C. Clark, who stepped down when his son, Ramsey Clark, was named attorney general earlier this year.

Swearing in of Marshall is not expected until October, when the court reconvenes for its autumn term.

Young LSD User Kills His Father

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies shot and wounded a knife-wielding youth who told them that he killed his father and that he had been taking LSD.

Sheriff Ken Cox said he and another officer answered a call Wednesday and were met at the door by James Arthur Smith, 20, who rushed at them with a knife. Cox said he yelled a warning and then fired three shots at Smith, critically wounding him.

Cox said that as the youth was being rushed to the hospital he told officers that he had stabbed his father to death Tuesday night.

Deputies found the body of the father, Elden Smith, in a car a half block from the family home.

Officers said young Smith told them he had been taking the hallucinatory drug LSD for many months and suffered a number of bad effects.

Arabs Agree to Get Out of Yemen's War

By DENNIS NEEDLE
KHARTOUM Sudan (AP) — Egypt and Saudi Arabia agreed Wednesday night on a formula to get themselves out of Yemen's civil war amid the first talk at the Arab summit meeting.

The possibility of a "political solution" with Israel also was mentioned.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt figured in both developments, promising withdrawal of his forces in Yemen and taking what conference sources said was a less belligerent stance toward Israel in a speech at a closed conference session.

LBJ's Vote Observers Spread Out

By BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson's 22 election observers fanned out across South Vietnam today to inspect polling places and see as much as they could of the campaigning and the government's arrangements for Sunday's voting.

They arrived in Saigon Wednesday to join 60 other official guests of the Saigon government, from 23 nations, to watch the election for president, vice president and a 60-man Senate.

The American senators, governors, mayors, religious leaders, labor, business and news executives received a briefing from U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and then split up for trips into the provinces.

The group includes both supporters and critics of the President's Vietnam policies.

All of the 22 observers said they were satisfied with what they saw in helicopter visits to provinces ranging from the Mekong delta to the embattled I Corps area in the North.

But few were prepared to comment on charges that the elections were being unduly influenced by the Vietnamese military whose candidates, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu and Air Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, are expected to win.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said he was "preliminarily impressed with the scope of the safeguards I have seen so far, but I have not seen enough to make a flat judgment."

Whitney Young, president of the Urban League, was visiting Binh Duong Province 30 miles north of Saigon with Hughes. He said he didn't get the impression that local officials "are going all out to get the people to vote for the military ticket."

Oregon Gov. Thomas L. McCall, on a visit to Kien Phong Province 50 miles southwest of Saigon, said: "I am pleased with what I have seen—the technicalities of setting up the election procedures. But I don't know that we could begin to make a concrete judgment on the fairness of the election. Now—or ever."

North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy, one of five observers arriving in Da Nang, was asked if the observers would be qualified to judge the election after such a brief stay in Vietnam.

Presbyterians to Hear Bill Lawrence

The Rev. William T. Lawrence, son of Dr. and Mrs. L.T. Lawrence, will preach the sermon at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, Bill and his wife, Carol, returned to the United States this week. They spent the past year studying Spanish at a special language school, the Instituto de Lengua Espanola, in San Jose, Costa Rica.

The young couple plans to go to Mexico to do Christian Education work in October.

Everyone is invited to attend this Service.

Bill and Carol will speak to the young people at the meeting of the Youth Fellowship following the supper at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Packer Quits School Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Cliff Packer of Little Rock said Wednesday he did not have the time to serve on the board of the Girls Training School and said he had mailed his resignation to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

"I just simply decided that I could not put the time in on the school that I should give to it so I decided it was time to get off the board," the Little Rock businessman said.

Packer said earlier in the week that he was not contacted when Clifton Shepard was asked to resign as superintendent at the school. Packer said the resignation request and the hiring of James Garrett was done without his agreement.

Challenges Statement Vietnam War Is More Important Than Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy challenges the contention of Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, that Vietnam is more important than the plight of U.S. cities.

"That's a mistake," the New York Democrat said in an interview. "President Johnson has said we can fight the war and still act on our problems at home."

"Our first priority should be to our own people. We are on the brink of the most serious crisis since the Civil War."

"It seems to me we are devoting all of the resources required to the war in Vietnam but we are not doing so in respect to our domestic problems. There is no question that we have not done what we should have done for the urban and rural poor."

Greene told the American Legion that if the United States does not stop the Communists in their promotion of world revolution, then our domestic problems and our pocketbooks are going to become mighty unimportant in the future."

The Marine Corps chief criticized what he said was an attitude of pessimism at home about the progress of the war. He said when he left Vietnam three weeks ago after his sixth visit there, "I left an atmosphere of optimism."

1st Hurricane of Season Is Building

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Growing stronger by the hour, tropical storm Arlene crawled slowly across the Atlantic Ocean today on a course that kept it far from land as its winds approached hurricane velocity.

Forecasters at the national hurricane center in Miami said Arlene, the season's first tropical storm, seemed certain to reach hurricane status sometime today.

The storm's poorly defined path was checked out Wednesday by planes, ship sightings and satellite pictures.

At 6 a.m. Arlene was about 1,200 miles southeast of Bermuda, moving toward the west northwest at about 15 miles an hour. She was centered near Latitude 22.5 north and Longitude 49.0 west.

Few Arkansas Forest Fires

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Martin, director of public relations for the Forestry Commission, said Wednesday that barring a serious drought, Arkansas should not have any serious forest fire trouble this year.

Martin said there have been far less forest fires in the state during the first half of this year, compared to last year.

462,000 U.S. Troops Now in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — American troop strength in Vietnam increased by 5,000 last week to 462,000, the U.S. Command announced today.

One of the new units arriving in the country was the 2nd Squadron, 1st Cavalry, from Ft. Hood, Tex., which disembarked from a troop ship at Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

The squadron of 833 men will join the U.S. 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands.

Rioters in Milwaukee Scattered

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Squads of riot-clad police backed up Mayor Henry Maier's ban against demonstrations with a show of force Wednesday night, twice scattering bands of Negro demonstrators who clustered in a chanting chorus outside their burned out headquarters.

At least 50 persons were arrested and two were injured in the sweeps by police outside the fire-ravaged hall of the "Freedom House" of the Milwaukee Youth Council, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The demonstrators said they would hold an indoor rally tonight—possibly inside a Roman Catholic church.

No shots were fired in the clashed Wednesday night, but debris flew as the police made their second move against the demonstrators.

The police acted after Mayor Maier declared a state of emergency and imposed a 30-day ban on marches and demonstrations on Milwaukee's streets and sidewalks.

City Police picked up three Negro boys yesterday for shoplifting at a local five and dime store. . . their ages 7-8-11 and they were released to their parents.

Leaders in Congress Have Problems

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — House members, forced to stay in session until nearly 4 a.m. one night last week, almost failed to show up in sufficient numbers Monday to vote themselves a 10-day Labor Day vacation.

It was a good example of the problem that faces Democratic leaders, whose job it is to schedule legislative business.

Trying to meet the requests of Easterners, who don't like to be here Fridays, and younger members, who wanted a vacation with their families, the leaders found themselves confronted last Thursday with a choice between putting off final action on foreign aid until mid-September or keeping the House in session until the measure passed.

At 3:36 a.m. Friday morning the House finally passed the aid bill—by eight votes—after a boisterous 15-hour session marked by a near fist fight between two members and passage of several potentially far-reaching policy riders.

The situation could have been avoided by acceptance of either of two proposals made last year by a joint congressional reorganization committee. One was for Monday-through-Friday sessions, the other for an annual August vacation.

The House seldom meets on Friday, and it usually does little on Monday. The bulk of absentees are Easterners, most of them Democrats, who practice law or conduct district business on Mondays and Fridays.

Thus Democratic leaders avoid scheduling important votes on those days when they are faced with the loss of their working majority—which is considerably less than the party's nominal 247-186 majority.

The congressional reform bill passed by the Senate is hopelessly stalemated in the House Rules Committee. And leaders have displayed little interest in an August vacation.

Another way of avoiding last week's situation is through better scheduling, a major House problem all summer.

Three weeks ago, leaders started debate on the President's major anticrime proposal on a Wednesday. Thursday afternoon, the half-finished debate was put off until the following week.

The next week, a civil rights bill was given only one day on the schedule. Time-delaying quorum calls by Southern opponents, which could have been foreseen, forced the debate into a second day. But leaders avoided a Friday meeting by squeezing a Social Security bill into one day.

Knowing the foreign aid debate would be lengthy, the leaders began it on Monday. But on Tuesday, they took three hours off for a space money bill, and each night, they adjourned the House by 7 p.m.

The result was that midway through Thursday evening, no end was in sight as the House worked its way through 45 amendments.

The problem could normally have been resolved by putting the matter off until this week.

But when the Labor Day recess was agreed upon, younger members complained they would be unable to vacation with their families, since most schools open the day after Labor Day.

With feeling so high that wives were drafting a petition to Speaker John W. McCormack, the leadership relented and passed the word members could stay away this week without missing anything of importance.

But so many left town that only 219 turned up on Monday's first roll call. Later there were 227. The House needs 217 members present to do business.

Boys Town Is Story of Success

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Fifty years ago, the Rev. Edward Flanagan, an Irish immigrant, decided to devote his life to helping homeless and wayward boys. He borrowed $90, rented a house in Omaha and started guiding his first "family"—two homeless newsboys and three lads turned over to him by a juvenile court.

Today there are 900 at Boys Town, orphans or boys from broken homes. The $90-a-month house in Omaha has grown into a $15-million dollar establishment about 10 miles west of Omaha.

Over the half century about 15,000 youngsters have passed through Boys Town. Since 1937 when it graduated its first high school class, most have gone out into the world with a high school diploma.

Father Flanagan lived to see his dream on its way to solid success. In 1946, he had launched a $5-million building program. It was well on its way when he succumbed to a heart attack en route home from Austria an adviser on child welfare.

Msgr. Nicholas Wegner succeeded him.
